

FIGURE 1: All the genes of the secretory pathway. Grouped by the processes they share. Color coded by their sub-cellular localization. Black nodes represent genes with no reported sub-cellular localization.

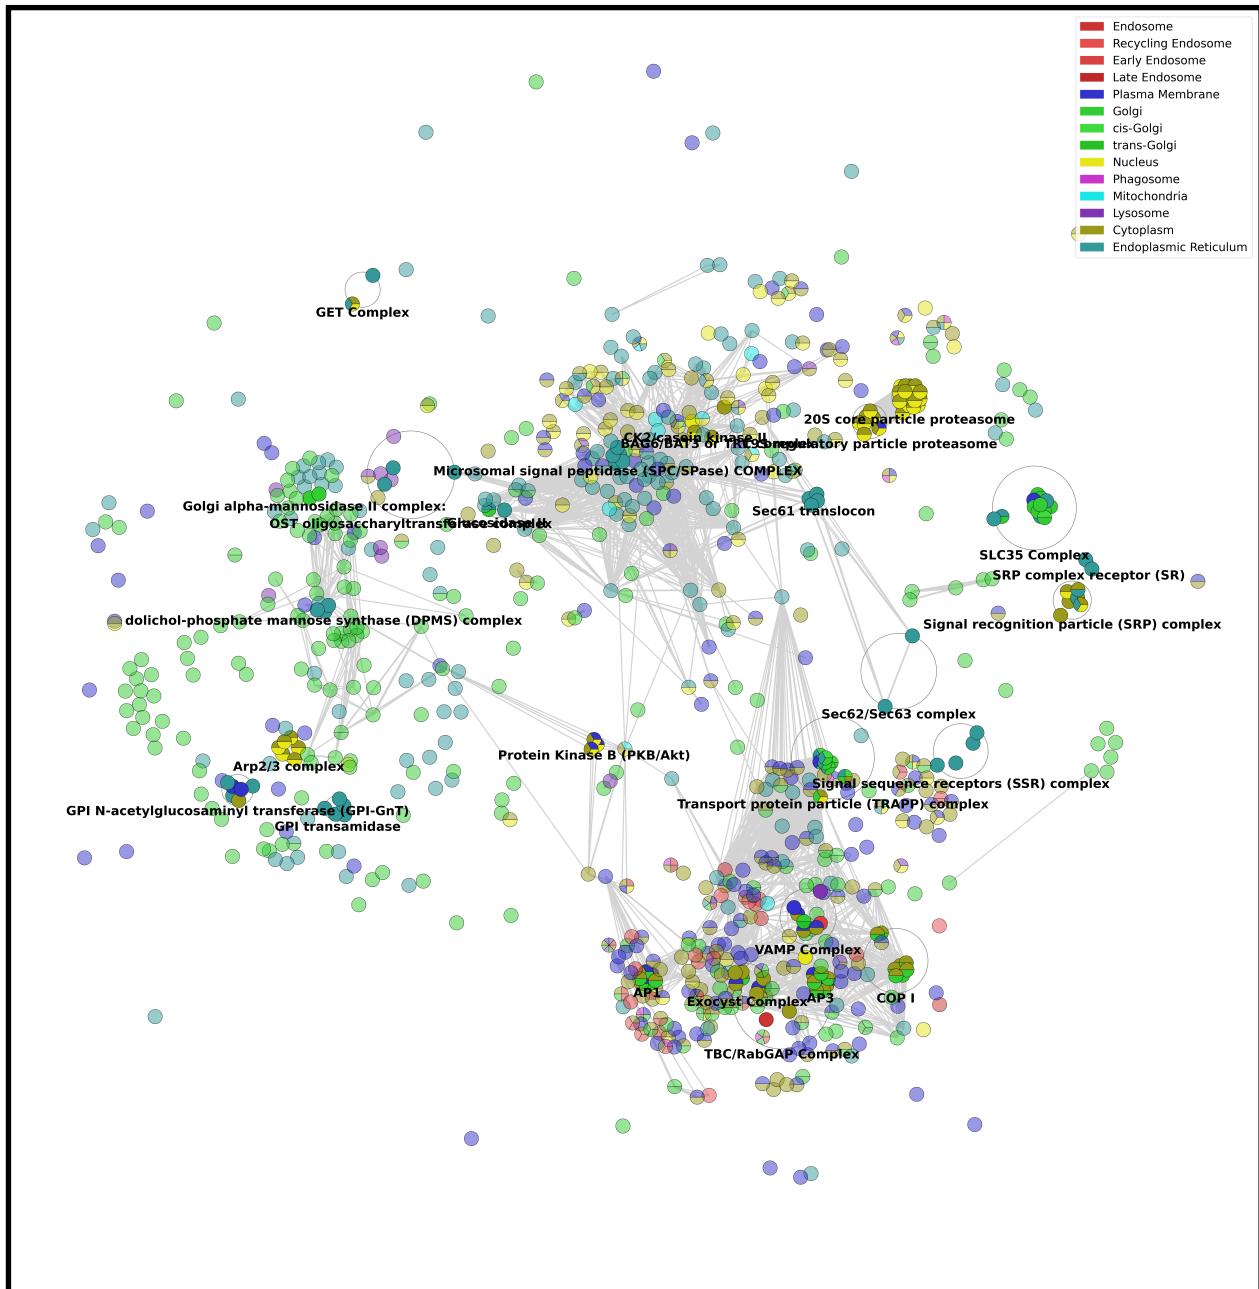

FIGURE 2: All the genes of the secretory pathway. Genes are grouped by the processes they share and their complexes, and color coded by their sub-cellular localization. Genes with no complex reported have higher transparency level when compared to genes related to complexes.